JARRETT
MEEKER FOUNDATION

THE GREEN LIST

THE GREEN LIST

Provided as a service of The Jarrett Meeker Foundation as an information hub where environmental agencies and speakers can register information regarding their programs and services which benefit the environmental community. This centralized hub offers easy access to schools and the public as a resource for class projects, environmental issues and nature activities.

Although these listings have been prepared with great care, we cannot and do not guarantee or warrant that they are complete or that they are in all instances correct. Mission, qualifications, and available programs are as reported to The Jarrett Meeker Foundation by them. Responsibility of authenticity lies in those seeking services.

If you would like to have your organization added to The Green List, please send the following information to info@thejmf.org:

- Organization Name
- Mission
- Website URL
- Address
- Phone Number
- Logo

Please reference "The Green List Submission" in the e-mail subject line.

Project Clean Water

www.projectcleanwater.org

Project Clean Water was initiated in July 2000 to provide a broad and inclusive forum for exploring water quality issues of regional significance. Much of the focus during our first two years was on establishing a visible forum to discuss issues of shared concern, to find consensus solutions to priority problems, and to characterize baseline conditions in the region's watersheds. This work was primarily carried out by four Technical Advisory Committees (TACs) and numerous, ad hoc Technical Workgroups. More than 600 people representing various interests throughout the San Diego region have participated in Project Clean Water activities. A focal point of stakeholder participation has been the Annual Clean Water Summits, held in June of 2002 and 2003. These Summits have provided an important opportunity to validate and fine-tune the priorities and directions of Project Clean Water working bodies.

San Diego Animal Advocates

www.animaladvocates.com

San Diego Animal Advocates is an all-volunteer, non-profit 501©3 animal rights organization founded in 1984. Our purpose is to educate the public on issues concerning animals, with a focus on problems of captivity, vivisection, and local area wildlife. While we work primarily on matters in our San Diego area, we also coordinate efforts with national animal protection groups and participate in many state-wide and national campaigns. SDAA is dedicated to eliminating animal abuse, neglect and exploitation through education, community involvement and direct action. Our concept of compassion extends to all animals – domestic and wild, captive and free. We encourage putting a compassionate philosophy into practice in our lives by adopting a vegan diet and using cruelty-free products.

In 1996, we left the recycling collection business to focus our energies on community outreach, public education and creating new markets for recycled products. The word Solana has remained and is symbolic of our work in the broader community. In Spanish, Solana means "place where the light shines." Carrying the torch of environmental awareness is something that we take very seriously, finding ways to illuminate problems, create solutions and inspire change.
